KREMLIN LEADERS APPEAR TO BE TRYING TO DRIVE FOR SUMMIT CONFERENCE

Mail Delivery By Guided Missile

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Post Office Department today announced the first successful mail delivery by guided missile.

The missile, a Navy Regulus I, was launched by a U. S. submarine in the Atlantic and landed at the auxiliary naval air station at Mayport near Jacksonville, Fla.

The submarine was the Barbero, a missile vessel.

The distance the missile traveled was not disclosed. The department said only that the submarine was "somewhere at sea."

The cargo of 3,000 letters included one addressed to President Eisenhower.

Negotiations Are Resumed Today on Suspending Tests

By TOM OCHILTREE

GENEVA (AP)—The three-power nuclear negotiations resume today amid prospects that a final decision on suspending the testing of atomic and hydrogen weapon tests will be taken at a summit meeting.

Sir David Ormsby-Gore, British representative for the talks with the United States and the Soviet Union, said he considered it likely that Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, President Eisenhower and Premier Nikita Khrushchev would deal with final aspects of a test ban treaty if they meet this summer.

There were still two big qualifications, however.

The Western powers want the Big Four foreign ministers conference on Germany to make some progress, particularly with regard to the Berlin crisis, before committing themselves to a summit session.

Also, the negotiators in the atom talks must make more headway before the nuclear problem is in shape for a final decision at the top level.

116-Year-Old Veteran Now Five-Star General

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—To the distinction of being the last survivor of the Confederate army, 116-year-old Walter Williams has added still another.

Now he holds higher rank than any ever achieved by his comrades at arms.

In a weekend ceremony at his bedside, a group calling itself the Confederate High Command presented the old soldier an honorary commission as a five-star general — a rank which didn't exist in Civil War days.

Donald A. Ramsey, a St. Petersburg, Fla., mining engineer, made the presentation as executive commissioner of the semi-military order.

Williams, fortified with a nip of whisky for what his doctor described as a slight chill, dozed during most of the ceremony.

Father of Quads Still Wed To Another Wife with Two

EAST ORANGE, N.J. (AP)—Ciro Bravata's quadruplets and their mother are doing fine in East Orange General Hospital.

But the proud papa admits "I've got troubles" — another family in New York City.

Bravata became the father of a girl and three boys Saturday. Sunday he admitted he was married to another woman and had two children by her.

"Oh, he's a fine one," moaned Bravata's wife, Grace, 38, as she lay in bed under sedation after hearing of the quads.

But Bravata, 39, a railroad freight conductor, said the quads' mother, Louise Stroheim Bravata, knew all along he was married.

"Louise couldn't be happier," Bravata said.

As for Grace: "I have no desire to talk to her. I never did. She's been giving me a hard time since GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union today appeared trying to sidetrack Big Four negotiations on the Berlin crisis by driving directly for an agreement to hold a summit meeting. Western officials insist Berlin comes first.

Secret exchanges were to resume today as the foreign ministers began their fifth week of negotiation. An American informant said the talks still hinge on the Soviet threat to Berlin, which has hamstrung the parley from the start.

The apparent Soviet strategy for the final stage of the conference emerged in statements by Premier Nikita Khrushchev and a spokesman for the Communist East German regime. They seemed to rule out any radically different instructions to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

Khrushchev said in Budapest before returning to Moscow that East-West accords "undoubtedly will be reached at the summit" even if no agreement is achieved by the foreign ministers.

The Soviet premier displayed confidence a summit meeting will materialize by advising the governments of Finland, Denmark, Sweden and Norway that he may have to postpone the Scandinavian tour he is scheduled to make in August.

Stefan Heymann, chief information officer of the East German government, told a group of Western newsmen flown to East Berlin from Geneva that the issues of Berlin and Germany "can only be solved at the summit."

It was the threat of a new blockade cutting traffic to the isolated city that made the Berlin crisis acute last year and forced the calling of the foreign ministers' conference in an effort to avoid a military showdown.

U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, Britain's Selwyn Lloyd and France's Maurice Couve de Murville seem to have run out of fresh ideas to propose to the Soviets. Gromyko hasn't come up with anything acceptable to the West.

California Committee Booming Gov. Brown

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—The state Democratic Central Committee was on record today pledged to Gov. Edmund Brown for the party's presidential nomination in 1960.

The governor has said he does not seek the nomination. He said he plans to run as a favorite son in the primary just to keep control of the state's delegation to the national convention.

The unanimous resolution adopted by the central committee Sunday, however, made no mention of a favorite son status for Brown. It urged him to enter the primary and pledged full support to his candidacy.

Legion Drum and Bugle Corps Wins First at Dunkirk

Warren's Chief Cornplanter Drum and Bugle Corps, in its first competition this season, came home with high honors after appearing in the parade staged in conjunction with a V. F. W. District convention at Dunkirk, N. Y., Saturday evening.

With eight units competing, Chief Cornplanter came home with first place award. The Color Guard also took first honors and Tommy Winewriter won second place among competing Drum Majors.

Area music lovers will have an opportunity to see the Corps in action this evening when the unit will be presented a Borough Flag on a loan basis. The ceremony is scheduled to take place in front of the Municipal Building at eight o'clock and the public is cordially invited to attend. The presentation will be made during a recess of the Borough Council. It was stated today that the flag will represent the borough at every public appearance of the Corps.

The Drum Corps will parade from the American Legion Home, marching east on Pennsylvania avenue to Second and Liberty; north on Liberty street to Third and west on Third to the City Building.

The presentation will be made by Burgess W. E. Rice on behalf of Council and the Borough of Warren. The emblem, one of two that were made and designed by Borough Manager George Geraci, using the seal of the Borough laid in the rotunda of the entrance to the building, designed by the architect of the structure. It is the first time the borough has boasted such an emblem.

Chief Cornplanter Drum Corps will make another local appearance next Sunday evening when it will present a program in connection with the annual Flag Day exercises sponsored by the Warren Lodge of Elks.

Georgia Town Is Threatened With Liquid Chlorine

McRAE, Ga. (AP)—Fear gripped this Georgia community today as wrecking crews began removing two derailed railroad tank cars containing 16,000 gallons of dangerous chlorine gas.

The main railroad line was cleared about 8:45 a. m. of debris left by the derailment of 19 Southern Railway freight cars. The wrecking crews concentrated on the two cars filled with the irritating and potentially suffocating gas.

The vice president of a chemical firm in Atlanta, William Mackie, pointed out that although chlorine is highly dangerous, it is a slow moving gas and not difficult to escape. Moreover, it is not explosive, except that daytime rising temperatures tend to increase the pressure under which it is confined in the tanks.

The grim pile of potential death lay beside a shattered warehouse one block north of Main street and 40 feet from U.S. 441 in this south-central Georgia town of about 3,500.

Army reserve and air patrol units cordoned off the area. Authorities broadcast messages urging residents to be calm.

A helicopter brought gas masks from Warner Robins Air Force Base. Bulldozers started moving the pulpwood.

Officials of the Olin-Matheson chemical Co. at McIntosh, Ala., arrived by plane to examine the situation.

A company official said it was possible for the chlorine in the two cars to contaminate an area in a one-mile radius. The chlorine is shipped in liquid form and turns into a gas when released. It is an essential part of many war gases.

16 Laborers Die In Blast After Truck Accident

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Sixteen farm laborers were killed and 32 others were injured when a crudely fashioned bus crashed into a three and exploded near Phoenix today.

The highway patrol, which had difficulty determining the number of charred and cremated bodies in the twisted wreckage, listed these figures as official but said there may be more dead.

All the victims were Mexican nationals.

Many of the injured were reported in serious condition with burns and broken bones.

Patrolmen said the driver, Nito Manuel Gloria Jr., apparently fell asleep at the wheel while taking the workers from the farm labor office at Mesa, Ariz., west of Phoenix, to fields at Tolleson, east of Phoenix.

The truck, which had been converted into a bus with sides and a top, left a main suburban thoroughfare just south of the Phoenix city limits, plowed through a ditch and smashed into a tree.

Patrolmen said the head-on crash burst the vehicle's fuel tank and caused an explosion.

Successful Glide Test Is Made By Rocket Ship X15

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The rocket ship X15, expected some day to carry man 100 miles high at 4,000 miles an hour, successfully made its first glide test today.

A brief announcement said everything went as planned.

This means the ship was dropped at 38,000 feet from a B-52 mother plane, glided for four or five minutes, and landed on a dry lake bed.

Veteran engineer-test pilot Scott Crossfield was at the controls.

The dart-like black craft carried no fuel, and landed on special skids.

It has made four previous captive flights locked under the B-52's wing.

The glide test had been delayed by various failures of electronic equipment.

Later this year the X15 will undergo tests with jet engines. Next year all-out flight with rocket engines is planned.

Steel Wage Contract Negotiations Resume

NEW YORK (AP)—Contract negotiations in the basic steel industry resume today after being in recess since Friday.

There was no indication during the weekend of any change in the deadlock between the United Steelworkers of America and the 12 largest steel companies.

The talks have been held on and off since May 5.

The current three-year contract expires June 30. If no agreement is reached by then, 500,000 union members will almost certainly strike in plants that make 90 per cent of the nation's steel.

Starkweather's Parent Has Not Abandoned Hope

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Mass killer Charles Starkweather, 20, faces his fourth scheduled date with the executioner Friday. But the admitted slayer of 11 won't die if his father can halt it via the courts.

Guy Starkweather, instrumental in keeping his son from the electric chair last May 22, hopes this week to get the Lancaster District Court to grant a writ of habeas corpus, delaying the execution again.

He also sought help from the U. S. Supreme Court, but a spokesman said a telegram and a letter from Guy, in their present form, weren't sufficient for a review.

The bandy-legged killer doesn't claim he's innocent, but as he told the Nebraska Parole Board recently: "I honestly believe if I was represented right by attorneys in District Court I would have gotten life."

Starkweather was ordered to (Turn to Page Twelve).

Burgess Welcomes Mr. Randolph

Sunday morning at three o'clock, a new resident came to Warren and according to friends of his at Bell Telephone Company, he will reside here permanently. His name is Randolph, and, to make his residence here official, Burgess William E. Rice, stayed up until the unholy hour so he could be the first to welcome him to the borough. The Burgess made the first call over the new dial system, as retired Plant Chief Robert Endress looked on with interest. Both had earlier participated in the ground breaking ceremonies for the new dial office. Manager Robert Ansford, of the local office, reported today that the new method is working very well, and the changeover went smoothly. When queried as to whom the first call was made, the Burgess would give no information, expect to say it was NOT a wrong number.

Graham Considers Mission to Moscow

LONDON (AP)—Billy Graham is considering an evangelistic mission to Moscow, a British friend said Sunday.

"He has been invited to visit the Soviet Union by the leaders of the Baptist church there," said the Rev. Arthur Goodwin-Hudson, an Anglican minister who lunched with the American evangelist.

"At the moment, Dr. Graham is a little uncertain in his mind about whether he will go, but I expect him to decide within the next 24 hours."

Graham was somewhere in the country visiting friends after addressing a church congregation in Woodford, on the eastern outskirts of London.

Woman in Trick Shooting Act is Victim of Accident

By JOHN MOODY
PITTSBURGH (AP)—A woman entertainer who faced death daily holding targets in a trick shooting act was accidentally shot to death Sunday by a 9-year-old boy who came to see her perform.

The shot came at a frontier town exhibit at the Pittsburgh Bicentennial Exposition in Point Park. It ended the life of Mamie Alice Peniman, 38, of Sun Valley, Calif.

The youth, who thought he was playing with a stage prop, started to run but was halted by his father. The victim's husband, Frank, 40, rushed over and slapped the youth, shouting, "You shot my wife."

The boy's mother, who permitted him to handle the 22 caliber rifle, stood stunned. The victim's 8-year-old daughter wept.

The shot came a few minutes before Mrs. Peniman was scheduled to go on stage and step in front of her husband's blazing guns as he fired at targets she held in her hands and mouth.

Police took young Frank Monaco of nearby New Kensington, Pa., into custody for questioning. No charges were preferred.

Mrs. Peniman performed with her husband and daughter, Mary Alice. He is known professionally as "Wild Bill Cody." They joined the exposition last week after touring with a Wild West show.

Mr. and Mrs. John Monaco said they had taken their boy to the exposition for a Sunday outing. After visiting several other exhibits they went to the frontier village.

Young Monaco and his mother walked into a jailhouse cell. He saw two rifles and asked his mother if he could examine them.

Mrs. Monaco said she thought they were part of the display props and agreed. Police quoted her as saying the boy picked up a rifle and pressed the trigger.

Mrs. Peniman was standing outside the jail talking to other show people. She had loaded the rifles moments before in readiness for the show.

Letters to Editor

R. D. 1, Warren Penna. June 8, 1959

Editor: Warren Times-Mirror,

Dear Sir:

I understand that the county-wide reassessment of property was to equalize all assessments. Has this really been accomplished?

In my own case my land valuation has been placed nearly double that of my next door neighbor with lot of same size.

A family living in a cottage without basement or attic near Conewango Creek have an assessed valuation fully one-third in excess of actual value, another property located in Warren Borough is assessed at only about one-third of its real value.

How could the appraisers arrive at a fair valuation in the many places where they never were in the house or interviewed the owners?

Kind of makes you wonder, don't it?

Sincerely,

"Would Like to Know."

One of the items scheduled to come before the June meeting of the Borough Council this evening, it is understood, will be the presentation of an ordinance which will ban parking of motor vehicles of any kind on the Hickory street bridge or approaches, crossing the Allegheny river. Questions and Answers About Warren Schools

Readers with questions about our schools are urged to write School Editor, Times-Mirror. The school staff, answers the queries for the Warren Times-Mirror as a community service. Question:

"Are track meets, band concerts and other such activities ever planned to take place before classes are dismissed in the afternoons? I hope not."

Answer: "No, indeed. These events are scheduled at 3:30, after dismissal time. Athletes taking part in an out-of-town track meet would leave classes early, if their grades are high enough to permit this. And the music students taking part in the exchange concert program with Bradford miss two days of school." Question:

"Why is there always plenty of homework for the night of a big school program like the Career Conference, an important concert or a big game? My kids have to burn the midnight oil after these programs let out. Often the teacher doesn't make regular assignments but seems to load it on for these nights."

Answer: "Homework is worthwhile. There are so many school activities that if a teacher did give light assignments certain nights there would scarcely be any time for heavy homework, and overloading would result. I see no reason why assignments should not be on these nights of school events; or why a child can't plan ahead for an hour or two of study in the afternoon, such as from 5 to 6 o'clock. They plan time for seeing movies. Students have to learn to budget their activity time! They must get the studying done." Question:

"Many mothers and fathers got a lot out of attending the Beauty Parents Group because the meetings offered a good chance to talk with the teachers. Will the high school start such a group?"

Answer: "Yes, Mr. Passaro will make an announcement in September on when the first meeting will be held."

Question: "Is there such a thing as a required course in English, so that the teachers know how much work each class must complete?"

Answer: "Yes, indeed, our best plan is in English. All the course plans were developed recently, one this year and the oldest two or three years ago. Teachers may vary the plan as to the time of year they include each requirement but the courses are the same. Where there is ability grouping the teacher assigns the work accordingly, but approximate tasks are performed by the pupils."

Question: "If a boy wants a job with the State Department, the United Nations, or an industry overseas, would it not be wise for him to study French?"

Answer: "A United Nations spokesman writes us: 'In 1946 the General Assembly adopted English and French as the working languages, and Chinese, French, English, Russian and Spanish as the official languages. Although knowledge of the French language is desirable, it is not a requisite to employment within the Secretariat of the UN.' An official of the teachers' national organization writes from Washington: 'I suppose, as we look at languages in the world other than English, an

AIRLINE SETS RECORD
A record-breaking 48,428 passengers logged nearly 8,150,000 miles on Allegheny Airlines in May for a 19% increase over May 1958, the company reported today. This marked the 12th consecutive month in which Allegheny has bettered its year-before performance. Air cargo boardings, paced by a healthy 83% increase in Air Freight, climbed to 643,000 pounds for the month from 400,000 pounds last May. Thru May, Allegheny's passenger traffic is running nearly 16% over 1958, the company said. Air cargo to date has exceeded 1958 by 51%.

ASSESSMENT HEARINGS
Residents in following townships may appear for the informal assessment hearings in Warren County Court House this evening between 7 and 9 p. m. if they did not attend this morning's session to appeal if they were not satisfied with their new assessment: Brokenstraw, Columbus, Spring Creek, Towp., and Bear Lake Boro. Tomorrow, same evening hour with the addition of 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. in the daytime, will be Deerfield, Eldred, Freehold and South West Twp.

RECRUITING INFO
Stenographers and secretaries now have a chance to apply for civilian positions in the Navy Department in Washington. Miss Leona Lahee, Employment Representative, is at the Navy Recruiting Station, Federal Court House Building, Perry Square, Erie, to discuss employment opportunities with interested applicants. The positions are under Civil Service and pay $312 and $336 a month, plus annual increases, liberal vacations and sick leave benefits. Housing reservations are made for new employees. Office hours are 9 to 6 Monday through Friday and until noon on Saturdays. Evening appointments may be arranged by phoning 2-4151.

Important one is French..... There is a great deal to be said for the study of Latin, because it is a basis of the Romance languages.

"Similarly, the addition of French certainly would be useful to enrich your language program. I know what is involved because of the cost, the library that will be needed, the textbooks, and many other things when one introduces a new subject. Nevertheless, in these days when languages are so very significant and important, it would be a fine addition if French were included in your curriculum."

IN MEMORIAM!

By Rep. Kasper Davis, printed in his column "On Soundings" in The Forum Press

State Representative Allen M. Gibson

A fine looking, friendly man arose before an emotionally tense caucus early in my career in Harrisburg. Tempers were flaring higher and higher—to a pitch known only when tax measures were being considered.

This man spoke quietly to the caucus in a vein of understanding, persuasive reasonableness. And he spoke in words that added up to clear common sense. He never raised his voice, but soon he had the close attention of all, and presently he had won most of the caucus members to his view. He resolved one of the important angles of our tax program which had been troubling our party group in the House of Representatives.

In these caucuses, I generally sat beside him. Just as members in their first term or two are prone to react to questions under discussion, I would say to him, impatiently: "Why in the world don't we do so-and-so?" And he would tactfully say: "Well, Kip, you've got a point, but maybe you've not fully considered such-and-such."

Of course, this was precisely what I had not done. Fortunately through the years, I was able to benefit in association with this warm-hearted, human man whose talent for insight and rare sense of the practical was coupled with long legislative experience. As he advanced to within the top bracket of our party's House leadership, increasingly he became the friendly counselor of many fellow members. He did much toward bringing happy endings to more than a few festering spots infected with virulent germs of human differences and colliding ambitions.

Above all, he had bigness, especially in his view of people and their doings. To this I can testify feelingly.

I am thinking of that embarrassing occasion when through my own inadvertence he signed and co-sponsored the wrong bill. Not intended for him, it had nevertheless strayed among several others which we both were actually co-sponsoring at the time.

It remained for the Harrisburg daily newspapers to make known to us by all-too-prominent news items that we had jointly introduced a bill to place time-clocks into all state-government offices. I had introduced the measure, presumably the sole sponsor, to emphasize the entirely inadequate job of fact-finding which lay behind a mending reorganization of the state government.

Ironically, within an hour he was due to make a talk before a large group of state employees, who certainly would not take kindly to the idea of time-clocks. Here indeed, was a situation to tax the patience of a saint. A good show of temper was surely justified. But the humor of situation marked his only reaction. He talked to the state employees and had them laughing with him.

Through the years we both repeatedly have had good laughs over this absurd mix-up. And he will be laughing if he is able to know what I am writing, for he has gone.

In the death of my friend Hon. Allen M. Gibson of Warren, this Commonwealth, and especially our own northwest corner, has lost one of its ablest. He was of governorship stature. He had been successful in business as well as seasoned and effective in the arts of government. With his exceptional capacity for leadership and conciliation there was also the highest sense of civic duty.

Among the fine men I have known, during a life which has touched a wide range of places and encountered many individuals, Allen Gibson belongs high in the top echelons. To many others besides myself his passing will mean the end of a warm and superlatively treasured friendship.

was one of the four or five great time auction bridge players of all time. He overbid today's hand but he always overbids and relies on superlative play to pull him out. This time he needed superlative play plus a little help from the defense.

West opened the ace of spades and continued with the deuce. A shift to any suit would have beaten Raymond.

Now Raymond executed a brilliant trump squeeze. He ruffled the spade continuation, played ace and another diamond, ruffed high in dummy, came back to his hand with a trump, ruffed his last diamond high and played three rounds of trumps.

He discarded the three and ten of clubs from dummy and watched East and West squirm.

If neither one threw a spade

Raymond would have cashed dummy's ace and king of clubs, ruffed back to his own hand and made the last trick with his last club since each opponent would have had to unguard his club honor.

Actually West let the eight of spades go. Raymond played a club to dummy and led the jack of spades. East played the king and Raymond ruffed West's ten dropped and that was all for that rubber.

and should-be increased

The PSEA is sponsoring legislation that would increase minimum annual salaries to $4,500 for the 77,000 teachers in the state. The present minimum required by law is $3,600 a year.

A new teacher just out of college receives automatic pay boosts of $200 a year until her salary reaches $5,000. Beyond that, there is no legal compulsion to boost her salary although some districts have been granting merit increases.

The far-reaching PSEA measure would give a new teacher $4,500

a year to start and nine automatic increases of $300 a year until her salary would reach $7,200. Teachers with a master's or doctor's degree would get more. So would principals and superintendents.

The cost in the next two years for that bill would be 66 million dollars.

According to school directors, the 1961-63 cost would jump 140

millions more and for 1963-65, 200 millions again.

The school directors claim, if their districts directors claim, if vent should the PSEA bill become law, it would eventually mean a state subsidy based on $14,500 for each teaching unit (30 elementary pupils, 22 high school students).

The school directors are asking a state subsidy base on $9,000 just to keep up with the present law which fixes a base of $5,800.

Prospects for enactment of the PSEA legislation are dim. Chairman Paul L. Wagner (R-Schuylkill) of the Senate Education Committee says the cost is beyond what the Legislature can afford.

"At this moment," he adds, "the harassed Legislature shows little disposition to pass such a bill."

But the PSEA contends that a teacher, entrusted with the delicate and important task of training and shaping the mind of school kids in the state, should be paid at least the salary of other professionals.

The Pottsville Republican recently published in a column recalling events of 99 years ago:

"The Pottsville school board re-lected all 26 teachers in the borough last week. Teachers work

10 months but are paid on a 12-month basis. Total teachers' payroll: $7,822 annually (topped by Supt. J. P. Sherman's $800)."

News of Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The gold rush is on, with TV's gunslings heading the cry, "Go east, young man!"

This is the season for the Western stars to fill their pouches with loot from the hinterlands. They are heading east not by pony but by jet, to display themselves before admiring throngs at fairs, rodeos and whatever.

They sing a little, ride a little, tell jokes, rope and twirl their six-shooters. But mostly they just appear, smiling and signing autographs and basking in the popularity that television has brought them.

Figures released by the New Mexico State Fair Commission give evidence of the money to be had. Gene Barry (Bat Masterson) has been set for two appearances in one day at the September fair for $2,000; Dale Robertson (Wells Fargo) for six appearances in three days at $7,500. The Gun-smoke trio — Dennis Weaver, Amanda Blake, Milburn Stone — will come in for six appearances at $8,500.

Robert Horton (Wagon Train) is making hay this summer with such dates as the Cincinnati Rodeo, Tulsa Horse Show, as well as playing "Picnic" in Detroit and "Guys and Dolls" in Warren, Ohio. Chuck Connors and Young Johnny Crawford (The Rifleman) were booked for the St. Louis Police Circus and Omaha Rodeo.

Robert Culp (Trackdown) expects to earn $70,000 this year from personals, probably as much as he gets from the series. Among his dates: Lincoln, Neb. Centennial, Salina and Coffeyville, Kan.

The song, "Hail, Hail the Gang's All Here" is sung to the tune of the pirate's chorus from "The Pirates of Penzance" by the British writers, Gilbert and Sullivan.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astounding statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

NEW YORK (AP)—Leonard W. Hall, former chairman of the Republican National Committee, has been elected a director of Servo Corp. of America.

Hall is currently senior partner in the Long Island, N. Y., law firm of Hall, Casey, Dickler and Brady. He served as Republican National Committee chairman from April 1953 to February 1957.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Shipments of Toro Manufacturing Corp. power lawn mowers totaled $3,050,000 in May, about one million dollars higher than the previous high for May in 1956.

NEW YORK (AP) — Failures among retailers of apparel and accessories, dry goods and general merchandise decreased 20 per cent in numbers in May 1959 from May 1958. The number was 84 failures this year compared with 105 failures last year.

NEW YORK (AP) — Chain stores sales for April gained 5 per cent over April 1958 and were 9 per cent ahead of 1958 in the first four months of the year, Printers' Ink said.

The advertising and marketing magazine said one week of Easter buying activity is missing in the April 1959 figures, which accounts for some lower sales by variety, apparel and shoe groups.

SCHOOL FINANCES

By LEONARD A. UNGER

HARRISBURG (AP) — Take away all state aid from Pennsylvania's more than 2,300 school districts and it would mean an average 30-mill increase in local real estate taxes.

For example, state aid for Curtin Twp. in Centre County equals more than 417 mills on assessed valuation of real estate in that township. On the other side of the coin, in Wyomissing in Berks County the figure would be only 3½ mills.

In some economically distressed school districts in the hard coal region, the situation is so bad that the Legislature must appropriate special funds to keep the schools open.

For these and other reasons the Pennsylvania State Education Assn., representing more than 75,000 school teachers in the state, favors more state school aid.

Last December, it made a calm, comprehensive appraisal of school financing problems in the state in a report, "Education in Pennsylvania—Today and Tomorrow."

Researched by a committee of 15 of the leading educators in the commonwealth, the report makes it clear that the cost of education in Pennsylvania must increase if acceptable standards are to be maintained.

Acceptable standards don't mean frills. They don't mean just reading writin' and 'rithmetic. To use the report's language, acceptable standards mean a rounded education. It said:

"Major factors which will operate to increase the cost of education tomorrow are the increasing cost of living, smaller classes of a more practical size, extension of the school year...elevation of salaries and income in the teaching profession to a level comparable to those received by members of other professional groups and additional professional staff and adequate physical plants to house our present pupil population and to provide for our constantly increasing student body."

Among other things, it said in effect, teachers' salaries must—

GAVIN GRATEFUL

In a telephone conversation to The Times-Mirror over the weekend, Congressman Leon H. Gavin hailed the restoration of the $1,400,000 Kinzua Dam fund as "a great victory for a truly cooperative, nonpartisan effort."

Mr. Gavin pointed out that the voice vote to keep the fund intact was unanimous and may be regarded as an indicator of the outcome of Tuesday's roll call. He added that the feeling is that the U. S. Supreme Court will rule on the anti-dam litigation of the Seneca Indians, if not today on June 15th.

Gavin gave high praise to Rep. Ivor D. Fenton, Pennsylvania's ranking Republican on the Appropriations Committee, who introduced an amendment earmarking the $1,400,000 for the controversial project in the omnibus appropriation bill for flood control and navigation projects. In approving the amendment the House nullified a directive by the Appropriations Committee channeling the unused fund to other projects since a new engineering study is to be made of the flood control reservoir. Others mentioned by the Congressmen as having contributed support to the move were Rep. John S. Moorhead, Pittsburgh Democrat; Louis C. Rabault, Democrat, Michigan; Rep. Robert Corbett, Republican, Pennsylvania; and Rep. John Taber, Republican, New York.

Waxing enthusiastic over the House vote Mr. Gavin declared it was without doubt the greatest achievement of his long career in Congress. At the same time he pays high tribute to the "wonderful cooperative non-partisan effort" which checkmated the fund grab effort. He repeated again his opinion that the dam is the key to the entire flood control program basing his claims on more than thirty years of studies and surveys by the United States Army Engineers.

WHAT'S IN YOUR MAILBOX

The vicious, cowardly, extensive—and profitable—attack on innocent American children through the US mails continues, despite the efforts of Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield, US postal inspectors, and postmasters, throughout the nation.

This is the $500 million a year traffic in obscenity and pornography that masquerades behind a facade of innocent-looking ads offering model airplanes or model autos for a dime or a quarter. A childish response to this lure brings, besides the model, says Mr. Summerfield, "un-ordered lewd material, as well as circulars soliciting the sale of even more objectionable pictures, slides, films and related filth."

Due to the sanctity of sealed mail, these criminal operators are safe—unless and until the recipient, or an elder—makes a complaint. Thus, this menace to American youth can not be curbed until every citizen makes his business to know what mail is being delivered into his mail box, and turns over obscene material and a formal complaint to the local postmaster.

If this sounds repetitious, it is a public service to repeat this warning and advice. The traffic still continues. Only concerted public action can stop it.

WASHINGTON (AP) — What could be nicer for a retiring general or admiral than to get a job—paying up to $40,000 a year or more—with a company which sells some kind of military equipment to the government?

But the question Congress is going to ask now is: What does he do to earn his money?

About July 1 a House Armed Services subcommittee headed by Rep. F. Edward Hebert (D-La.) is going to start hearings digging into questions like these:

1. When a retired general or admiral gets a fat job from a company selling to the armed forces, is it strictly because of his executive ability and professional experience?

2. Or is he really hired as a lobbyist or influence-peddler to use his old friendships and contacts in the Pentagon for the benefit of the company which hired him?

There is a third, underlying question: Is a high ranking officer, still in the service, influenced in the selecting of equipment from a particular company by the prospect of going to work for that company when he retires?

Hebert says the picture is not all white and black—that many retired officers now with military equipment companies do a good, legitimate job because of their knowledge and background.

However he says he thinks more business in Washington is done on the golf-links and over the cocktail tables than is ever transacted in the Pentagon.

But any legislation Congress considers to correct abuses—and Hebert expects to have remedial measures for Congress when it returns in 1960—runs squarely into a problem of individual rights.

Many officers retire in the prime of life and, like nonmilitary people, have a right to make income in addition to their pensions—particularly in fields where their knowledge and experience should pay off best.

Pending results of the Hebert investigation the House rejected last week a ban on such employment for five years after retirement. (Turn to Page Five)

Here and There

From Mel Barron, former manager of Barron's Aviation Service, operating out of the Warren Municipal Airport, and his wife Frances, comes the following letter of appreciation, directed to all the good people of the Warren area who sent letters and get-well cards to their daughter Christine in response to an article printed in The Times-Mirror several weeks ago:

"May 31, 1959
 "1803 Whedbee
 "Ft. Collins, Colo

"Ed Lowry, Editor
 "Warren Times-Mirror
 "Warren, Pennsylvania

"Dear Ed,

"First, I would like to thank you and all the other people, adults and children, for the many cards they sent to Christine. The cards made Christine very happy and did much to improve her spirits and help her pass the time while convalescing in the hospital. Ever since she was a little tot Christine has always received a great deal of pleasure from receiving cards of any sort. She is going to make up a scrap book of all the get well cards she received. Please thank everyone for Frances and me through your paper. Thank them for Christine too. We will, as soon as we can, send everyone thank you notes for their good wishes and cards when Christine was so seriously ill.

"Christine is now out of the hospital, but is still convalescing and will be for quite some time to come. She has a pretty bad heart condition and the rheumatic fever has not left her yet. She has to go to the clinic at the Denver General Hospital once a week where she is given a thorough examination by several doctors and is given medications for the following week. According to the doctors it will be months before they can tell how much permanent heart damage there is. If she is extremely lucky she may outgrow her condition and get off without any permanent heart damage, but as ill as she was it is expected that she will have some permanent heart damage. There is even some possibility that her heart may always be as bad as it is now. All we can do is wait and hope that time, God and nature will bring her back to normal again.

I believe I told you before that Christine was so critically ill that the doctors didn't really expect her to recover and were quite surprised to see her suddenly start to pull out of it. Because of her heart condition she was on the danger list for several days after she started to rally.

"Christine's mother was in Cleveland at the time Christine became ill and I had to call her long distance and have her fly out right away when Christine took a turn for the worse. It looked like Christine wouldn't last until her mother arrived. Due to our neglect Christine had never been baptized. We had a minister standing by, waiting on the arrival of Christine's mother, to baptize Christine and if we saw she was starting to leave us we were going ahead with the baptism immediately. As soon as Frances arrived at the hospital Christine had already been in an oxygen tent at that time for two days and was baptized in the oxygen tent. She woke up when her mother arrived and was conscious while being baptized. Christine knew she was being baptized, but thought the whole thing was kind of peculiar. I guess it didn't make much sense to her and of course she didn't know how close to death she was. Needless to say, the baptism was a very sad thing.

Poor Christine is going to be like a balloon before very long. One of her medications is cortisone and it makes the kids blow up all out of proportion. Already her face is all puffed out. When she is finally taken off the cortisone it will be six months before she gets back to normal. She also gets penicillin and will have to take it the rest of her life.

"All I can say is we all died a thousand deaths when Christine was so near the end and are extremely happy and grateful for what she has been returned to us.

"As for myself, my cup would be running over if it wasn't for Christine's condition. I have a nice home for my family in Ft. Collins where I have a good job with the Silveira Aircraft Company as a combination aircraft inspector and test pilot. Eventually, as production increases, my job will become all test flying. We are presently turning out three airplanes per week and hope to step up to two per day this summer.

"Christine will live in Denver with my mother and brother, George, where they reside at 2296 South Knox Court. She is close to the hospital there and will have the constant care and attention of my mother. She will need constant watching as she must be taken to the hospital immediately at the slightest sign of a sore throat or any other illness. She will always be subject to recurring attacks of rheumatic fever and if she gets strep throat the door is wide open to another attack. When the doctors feel that Christine's condition is good enough she will come to live with us in Ft. Collins. That may be quite some time away though.

"Although I like Colorado and my job I still intend to return to the Warren area. The only reason I left was that I couldn't make enough money in my chosen profession to support my family and to put into action the plans I had. I still have my farm in Pittsfield and I hope to buy additional land bordering on each side of it. I always planned on raising beef cattle for a living in my latter years and just operate an airport as a side line.

"I've always felt it was just a matter of time until the Borough closed down Warren Airport for good. The Warren area needs an airport, but there just isn't enough business to keep an operator going. By the time I return I figure the people will realize the need for an airport in the community and I will be in an excellent position to serve both Warren and Corry. Best of all, I won't be dependent on the airport for a living as raising cattle will be my profession. If the airport makes money, fine and dandy. If it doesn't, it won't hurt me a bit and the airport will be there for my own pleasure.

DON'T LET YOUR JOB KILL YOU

Habitual overfatigue should be avoided at any cost because judgment, initiative, and endurance are affected. The over-tired person loses his sense of proportion. Molehills become mountains, trifles are ogres, and concentration is impossible. Work that comes easy when rested takes hours to accomplish.

The more tired the individual, the more difficult it is to finish the task at hand. Skill is lost and work no longer is automatic. In this respect, overfatigue starts a vicious circle—the less sleep, the more fatigue, and vice versa.

It is not easy to explain this setup to the sufferer because he is frustrated, on edge, and incapable of thinking rationally. The personality changes and these people are hard to live with.

Sleep is the answer but the question is how to get it when the heat is on. These episodes can be tolerated when they are emergencies of a temporary nature. But the mental or physical breaking point is bound to come unless the individual can rest. A vacation may be the answer. At any rate, something must be done so that health and efficiency will not be damaged.

The nervous breakdown is regarded as a sign of weakness in some quarters. The hard-hearted business man pooh-poohs the idea that overwork is responsible. But he can understand the physical breakdown that comes in the form of peptic ulcer, high blood pressure, or coronary thrombosis.

If you must work long and hard, make it a rule to include an hour or two of complete rest in the daily schedule. This may string out the day but the task at hand will be done more quickly and efficiently after an interval of relaxation.

Dr. Van Dellen has a leaflet on fatigue that he will send if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

If additional help is not available, sit down and think things over. Ask yourself what your job is expected to accomplish and whether it is worth the risk to you, your family, and the boss.

TOMORROW: Radioactive fallout.

REDUCING TABLETS
 J. E. writes: What do reducing pills contain?

REPLY
 Chemicals that decrease appetite and impart a feeling of well being. Most of the compounds contain an amphetamine and require a prescription. One objection to these products is that they may lose their effect after a few weeks. Sometimes they produce nervousness, apprehension, depression, insomnia, headache, or exhaustion. Nonamphetamine tablets are available; they are said to curtail appetite and improve the mood without producing jitteriness. Preludin is one brand of this type of medication.

REPLY
 Anyone who tires easily ought to have a physical examination including blood tests for anemia, chest X-rays for tuberculosis, and metabolic tests. If the results of these studies are negative, and you are not suffering from an emotional disturbance and are not burning the candle at both ends, we must assume you came into the world with limited stamina.

BEHAVIOR OF ELDER
 R. P. writes: Why does an older man of 50 blow his top when he drinks elderberry wine?

REPLY
 It's the alcohol plus his temperament. I doubt whether he would react differently if he switched from elderberry to youngberry wine.

NEW YORK (AP)—In all the guessing about whether there'll be a steel strike this summer one question sticks out:

How long before the innocent bystanders would be hurt?

Just how much stock steel users have been able to pile up is debatable. Some observers think that almost all have enough to keep going for two or three months without further deliveries. Others think that many companies, particularly the smaller ones, would have to close down after a few weeks.

Some industries serving the steel mills would be quickly affected. Example: railroads that carry coal and ore to the furnaces and tote steel products to users. Another: Coal mines that supply steel mills (ore mines usually are involved directly in any steel strike).

Steel users have been busy for months building up stocks. Steel mills have been running at near capacity to supply the demand.

European steel firms have stepped up exports to this country and expect to profit handsily if a strike is called and shortages develop. England recently cut steel prices a little, which could act as a come-on. And the St. Lawrence Seaway has carried a lot of foreign steel into mid-America.

But many would-be builders of steel inventories have found that as a result of the pickup in business activities they were using more of it than they had anticipated. So their stock piles aren't as high as planned.

Some small users of steel have found that, as the poorer customers, they have been put at the end of the list on steel mill order books and have built up little inventory. They could be in the fix after a strike, if one develops. To start up, again, small users might have to wait longer for deliveries.

To find out just what the situation might be, the Research Institute of America Inc., a fact-finding agency for industry, asked its members in the metalworking fields how long they could keep going if steel deliveries halted July 1 because of a work stoppage. From about 300 replies the institute reports small companies would feel strike effects first. Nearly half of these say they'd be out of steel after eight weeks.

The real pinch may come in special types of steel.

Only half of all companies using structural shapes and heavy plate have more than eight weeks supply.

ment. But there is a long history of congressional agitation about military brass going into private industry which does business with the government.

When Sen. Gerald Nye, a North Dakota Republican, conducted his historic investigation into munitions-making back in the 1930s, it was brought out that retired military brass had big jobs in that industry.

There is a difference between the Nye inquiry and the one to be made by Hebert.

The former had its roots in American pacifism and neutralism—and the munitions makers were accused of getting fat by fomenting conflicts around the world.

There is no dispute now about American needs for heavy armament. The American economy is so tightly linked with defense production that a sudden decision to reduce armaments drastically might throw the country into depression.

The Hebert investigation will examine not only the roles of retired officers in firms dealing with the government. It also will want to know how the military equipment makers go about competing with one another to sell their products to the government. Meaning, how they try to influence decisions in their own favor.

President Eisenhower, asked at his news conference last Wednesday about the role of the munitions makers in American defense purchases, said: "Obviously something besides the strict military needs of the country are (influencing) decisions."

MRS. HARRY CRAIG WALKER

A formal military wedding in the Navy Chapel in Washington, D.C., at 3:00 p. m. June 5, united in marriage Dana Lee Dunn, daughter of Bugader General and Mrs. Charles Golding Dunn, of Washington, and Ensign Harry Craig Walker, of Warren. The ceremony was performed by Canon Luther D. Miller, of the National Cathedral in Washington.

The bride, whose father is director of the Personnel Directorate of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in Washington, attended Mary Washington College of the University of Virginia in Fredericksburg. Ensign Walker, alumnus of Warren High School in 1954, was graduated from the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., on June 3.

Escorted and given in marriage by her father, the bride was groomed in summer taffeta and lace, her double illusion veil falling from a cap of Brussels lace, her cascade bouquet fashioned of white roses and tulle.

The wedding gown was styled with scalloped neckline in a short-sleeved bodice of alencon lace, with the lace repeated in scalloped detail down the sides of the floor length skirt, and a chapel train depending from a pleated bustle. With it she wore short kid gloves, a necklace of pearls and small single-pearl earrings.

Wearing beige silk organza, embroidered with pink roses and green stems, and carrying cascades of pink roses, the maid of honor was Ann Wentworth, Washington; bridesmaids, Karen Kennerick, Cheryl Chase, Md.; Helen Craig, Maryland; Jean Clark, Washington, and Benton Butler, Virginia.

Their gowns featured high green satin cummerbunds terminating in small back-bows to accent a draped organza backline. Each wore a large green horsehair picture hat, with velvet trim; short beige gloves and matching satin shoes.

Groomsmen were all classmates of Ensign Walker, Murray Cheston as best man; Thomas Hassler, Frederick March, Michael Fitzgerald, John Turner, James Kelly and Gerald Walsh, ushers.

Mrs. Dunn chose for her daughter's wedding a linen-shantung sheath of deep watermelon red, matching hat and watermelon and beige accessories. Mrs. Walker selected a sheath of beige lace and matching accessories. Each wore a glamelia corsage.

The reception was held at Fort Lesley J. McNair Officers' Club in Washington, with Mrs. Jesse B. Mallick as mistress of ceremonies.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to Bermuda, the bride wore a navy blue shantung suit, pink accessories and a corsage of white gardenias.

First Methodist WSCS Meeting

The monthly meeting of WSCS of First Methodist church was held in Dunham Parlors, with devotionals in charge of Estelle Roswell.

The secretary presented recommendations from the executive committee that surplus of the missionary fund be divided among the Crusade Scholarship Fund, India, and the home for girls where Miss Narbeth is stationed in Algeria. Purpose in choosing three fields was that through the Scholarship Fund, missionary efforts will continue in countries closed to foreigners, and because India and Africa are vital spots in world affairs today. These recommendations were accepted.

The committee also recommended the kitchen be painted and that all officers be given a subscription to the Methodist Woman, which was also accepted.

New officers and circle leaders were installed, using the special and impressive installation service as presented in the Methodist Woman. Mrs. Marjorie Branch, president, called the roll; Dr. Schultz gave the charge to the officers.

Mrs. Paul Donovan presented Margaret Niederlander, a member of First church now serving in the home mission field of the Methodist church at Henderson Settlement, Frankes, Ky. She told of her work there as house mother to 24 girls and some of the problems in that particular area, as well as accomplishments.

Refreshments were served by the George Whitfield Circle.

The Nature Parent
Putting Bite on Visitors Seems Natural to Young
BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

One weekend when Ted was about 3, he suddenly became aware of visitors.

His Uncle Bob arrived; and after greeting the grownups, sat down on the davenport in his overcoat. Feeling in its pockets, he said as though to himself, "Now what's all this stuff in here?"

Shrieking with delight, Ted's sister flung herself on Uncle Bob's right overcoat pocket and emerged with a toy watch, soap in the form of a black kitten, some peppermints and a little vial of perfume.

Ted had started shrieking, too, because it seemed the thing to do. But when he discovered a whole for his bathtub in Uncle Bob's left pocket, he stopped yelling. As the pocket disgorged a whistle, his own bag of peppermints and a clockwork bus, he was too gratefully astounded to even say "Thank you." Right then and there, visitors and presents became mixed up in his mind.

So he's become something of a problem to his parents. Whenever a friend or relative comes to visit, Ted shouts with happy expectation, "What did you bring me?"

Many of the visitors resent this greeting. They want to be loved for themselves alone and feel uneasy when Ted demands presents from them, especially when they haven't brought him any. His Aunt Mable, for instance, is convinced that he's being trained to rudeness and materialism.

I think she's mistaken.

A child's "What did you bring me?" is his innocent certainty that all grownups love him and are interested in giving him pleasure.

Usually, like Uncle Bob, some visitor has demonstrated this interest so impressively that the child expects it from all subsequent visitors just as we expect water from faucets because the first one we ever turned on delivered it.

We need not use the word "rude" when we tell Ted that Aunt Mable is not Uncle Bob and feels unhappy when he yells "What did you bring me?"

As children grow, they may begin to welcome our friends and relatives for their beautiful souls. Right now they are fascinated by Uncle Bob's capacity to turn his coat pockets into a source of wonder and delight.

Don't Let That Vacation Trip Become a Headache

Making vacation plans? Here are a few hints to make that "two weeks off with pay" rewarding for the family:

Don't plan a more expensive trip than you can afford. If a trip just increases your money worries, it isn't going to be very relaxing.

If your vacation plan is to visit either the husband's or wife's family, remember that only one of you is "going home," so try to see the one who isn't doesn't spend all of his time "visiting."

If you are taking small children along, shorten your driving days so that the whole family isn't tired and irritable by nightfall.

See that every member of the family gets to do something he especially wants to do. That can usually be managed with a little planning.

If you are visiting a part of the country that is new to you read up on it before your trip so that you'll have a better idea of what there is to do and see.

While you're on vacation you can't do anything about your problems back home so don't talk about them or worry about them. "I'll worry about that when I get home" is the best kind of vacation attitude.

Do all that you can to keep your dealings with those who serve you along the way pleasant. If you are relaxed and easy to please you'll have more fun than you will by demanding an impossible standard of service.

Don't rush or hurry even if you don't see everything. If you come back from a vacation more tired than when you left home you've wasted your time.

Kinzua Dam Appropriation Frozen by Vote in House

By unanimous vote held highly indicative of favorable future of the Kinzua Dam, the House of Representatives in Washington, last Friday, led by Congressman Leon H. Gavin, with the aid of Rep. Ivor D. Fenton and other Republican and Democratic stalwarts, agreed to freeze the fund of $1,400,000 allocated for construction in an amendment to the House Appropriations Committee directive—nullifying a move which would have permitted diversion of the fund to other projects.

Word of the action was telephoned by Congressman Gavin to Warren and other interested points. "We have won another round," he said jubilantly, advising that the roll call on the voice vote is scheduled for tomorrow. At the same time he predicted action by the Supreme Court today or next Monday.

The Associated Press dispatch regarding the action in the House Friday follows:

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Ivor D. Fenton (R-Pa.) has won, at least the first round, in his battle to keep a $1,400,000 appropriation in the fund earmarked for construction of the proposed dam at Kinzua, Pa.

The House, in voting on an amendment introduced by Fenton, tentatively agreed Friday to keep the appropriation in reserve for construction of the 113 million dollar flood control project on the Allegheny River.

Fenton's amendment was tacked on to an omnibus appropriation bill for flood control and navigation projects. The House is expected to take a roll call vote on the bill Tuesday.

The $1,400,000 is the remainder of two million dollars appropriated to get construction under way at the dam site. Work, however, has been halted pending the outcome of litigation initiated by New York's Seneca Indians who seek to stop the project.

The House, in approving the amendment, nullified a directive issued by its appropriations committee. The directive would have channeled the unused fund, other projects since a new engineering study is to be made of the proposed project.

Fenton, Pennsylvania's ranking Republican on the Appropriations Committee, told the House the subcommittee never had recommended taking away the unused fund from the Kinzua project. Committee Chairman Clarence Cannon (D-Mo.) contended it was the intent of the subcommittee to dispose of the money elsewhere.

On a suggestion by Rep. John Taber (R-N.Y.), Fenton's amendment was changed to stipulate that the $1,400,000 be frozen until the Supreme Court rules on litigation over the proposed dam and until the new engineering study is completed.

Rep. William Moorhead, a Pittsburgh Democrat, said that although Pennsylvania has been waiting since the devastating floods of 1936 to get the dam, it would be willing to undergo "another six months delay" to keep the unused fund available for immediate use should the legal controversy end.

The Seneca Indians seek the injunction to halt construction of the dam because it would flood some 9,000 acres of their reservation.

The Supreme Court is expected to decide soon whether to hear an appeal by the Senecas.

RADIO and TV

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—A bit of the wonderful world of James Thurber, which is peopled by bewildered men, pragmatic women and thinking dogs, appears on television tonight in "Christabel."

The comedy on Goodyear Theater (NBC-TV, 9:30 p.m., EDT), written by Melville Shavelson and based on several Thurber stories, may grow next season into a TV comedy series called "The Secret Life of James Thurber."

Talk with Thurber for an hour and you find that at the age of 64 he does not seem in the least bewildered nor especially pragmatic, but he is thinking. Probably that's why he likes dogs—especially poodles, like Christabel. They're always thinking.

Thinking over the question of why scarcely any young men are writing humorously these days and leaving the field to their elders Thurber, S. J. Perelman, Ogden Nash, E. B. White, Thurber said:

"There was a gaiety in the 1920's, when we all started writing, that seems lacking today. I know a woman psychiatrist who has a theory on the lack of humor."

young writers these days. She points out that they grew up in the depression hearing their fathers say, "We're ruined." Then they got knocked by the second World War. I suppose it's no wonder they say, "Life is grim."

It set Thurber to thinking of the growing ages of old friends who gathered at a party recently to celebrate the publication of his new and thoroughly delightful book, "The Years with Ross," the story of Harold Ross, late editor of the New Yorker.

Although completely blind now, Thurber continues to be a productive writer. This summer he hopes to complete 20,000-word satire tentatively entitled "The Gink" and to have a play based on the life of Harold Ross ready for Broadway production next season.

Thurber dictates—or, as he says, "recites" his work. He enjoys television and the theater, with his wife describing actions.

Boyle's Column

By ED CREAGH
(Substituting for Hal Boyle)

WASHINGTON (AP)—Had a letter from a journalism student the other day. He'd seen my name over a story about President Eisenhower, and wondered how a man goes about covering the White House. I wish I could tell him. I've been trying to find out since 1947.

All you really need is the strength of a lion, an encyclopedia in your brain, an endless capacity for boredom, and a family that is used to getting along without you.

It helps if you have a talent for missing meals, battling small-town cops, passing up cocktail parties, hopping off moving trains, and — when necessary — clawing press secretaries.

Marvin L. Arrowsmith, who regularly covers the White House for The Associated Press, comes as close as anybody I know to meeting all these requirements. The rest of us occasionally fall by the wayside.

I'll never live down that time I missed a presidential press plane in Chicago.

One part of the White House beat consists in growing bunnions on your spine from sitting around the lobby. Now and then you but-tonhole callers from such exciting groups as the Save the Chipmunks Federation. Or you get a thriller-diller of a report on corn pone production since 1903.

You never relax. There's always a big story coming, and often when you least expect it. Then you sprint for your telephone, politely bashing in some other reporter's ribs with your elbow.

That's the time when you wish you had paid more attention in school to history, economics, political science and ju-jitsu.

Eventually, sooner than later, you go "on the road" with a president. They all travel.

You go by plane or train or credit card car, or slump through the mud in your formerly shiny new shoes.

One day you live like a prince. A President goes to some suave resort and you can't lift your hand without finding a daiquiri or a Hollywood starlet in it.

The next day you may find yourself slumping along some trout stream trying to catch a glimpse of the president, who remembered to bring along fishing tackle while you didn't.

Then there was the time in Mexico when your correspondent discovered the only mud puddle in a drought-stricken province and sank himself up to the knees in it.

Or the time we followed Harry Truman down the Potomac in a World War I sub-chaser with ice floes phasing us and no toilet facilities aboard.

It's a great life if you can stand it. Anybody who can should be selected immediately to be the first human being to be launched into space.

AROUND THE WORLD

HAPPY OCCASION—Backstage after the opening night of "Gypsy," the new musical comedy starring Eithel Merman, she and director-choreographer Jerome Robbins had something to be happy about. The musical, based on Gypsy Rose Lee's memoirs, is a hit.

TO A SAD FATE—Although the scale registers only 850 grams, or a little less than two pounds, for three month-old jaguar cubs in Frankfurt, West Germany, the tiny animals look pretty glum. They'll soon be parled and sent away to different zoos throughout the world.

THE REAL THING—As Gerhard Diegel puts the finishing touches to his exact scale replica of a circus in Esslingen, Germany, it's hard to tell the model from the original. The amazing likeness is revealed in a comparison of the model (top) and the actual circus (below). The model is exactly 1/60th the size of a real circus. It can be taken apart and stored in tiny circus wagons, just like the equipment of the actual circus, and took two years to construct.

ATOMIC WONDER—As actress Jayne Mansfield sings, sways and acts as seductive as she can in her night club act in Las Vegas, Nev., she also startles customers with this revealing costume. It is made of black lace and flesh net—something to see.

CLOSE HARMONY—Some Franciscan Friars blended their voices in song at a ceremony marking the 750th anniversary of the founding of their order in Rome, Italy. The tonsured monks sang the "Canticle of the Creatures," a song composed by the order's founder, St. Francis of Assisi, in the 13th Century. Pope John XXIII attended this ceremony.

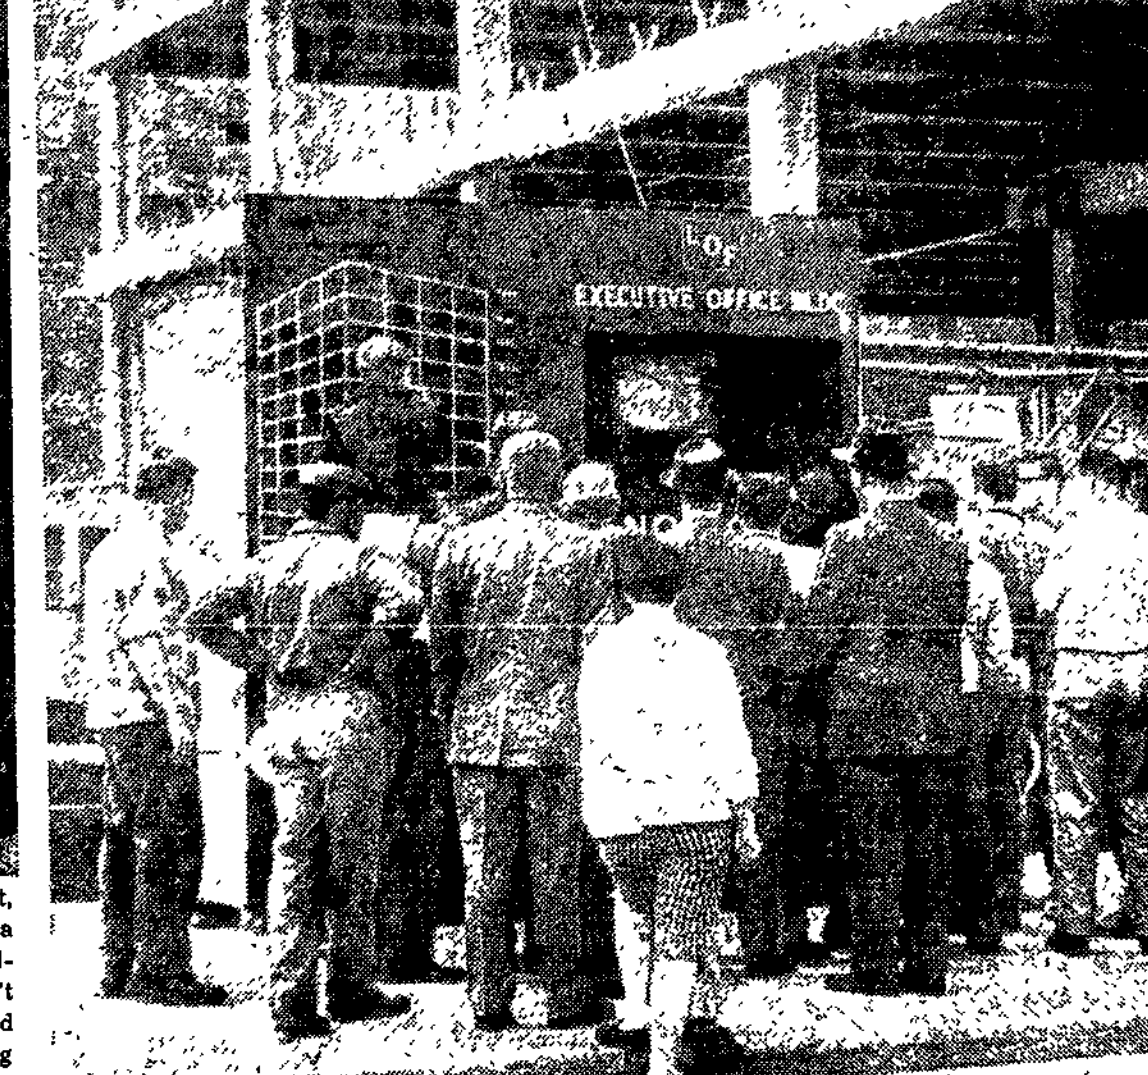

DANCING IN—Ballerina Galina Ulanova, of the Russian Bolshoi Ballet company, and her husband Vadim Rindin, are shown at a Los Angeles airport with two airline hostesses. They had arrived on the West Coast to continue the triumphal tour that had started at New York's Metropolitan Opera House.

MATTER OF CUSTOM—The new way gives way to the old when it comes to a funeral in San Jose, Costa Rica, although there are many autos in the capital city. All hearses there are drawn by horses. This one, with the animals wearing a covering of black net, is waiting outside a church during a funeral ceremony.

NO CLOSE FIT—In fact, that crown hanging from a pole near Buckingham Palace in London, England, isn't a fit at all for five-year-old David Warby, who's trying it on. The huge crown was just one of many placed in position in honor of the recent visit of the Shah of Iran to the British capital.

SHOWING UP—It's not necessary to crane your neck to watch the construction of this skyscraper in Toledo, Ohio. A closed-circuit TV system has been provided at the new Libby-Owens-Ford office building, and viewers can watch it to see what's going on high up.

Dunkirk Tires of Tail-End Ride, Passes 17-5

Dunkirk pulled four runs across the plate in ninth inning to take a final commanding lead against Warren Rockets in State Hospital diamond Saturday to win a previously Rock-owned contest 17-5.

The New York State players caught hold of Warren top of eighth, tying it 13-all to begin their victory climb. Rockets scored two runs in bottom of eighth to lead 15-13 and end their scoring bid. Dunkirk pounded out four in ninth to take the game.

Creola, Cummings and Drexler parked Warren at the plate. Creola 3-for-4; Cummings 4-for-5; and Drexler 5-for-6. Cummings had a double and a three-bagger; Drexler three doubles; and Castagnino connected for a double.

Excitement started in first inning when Rockets pulled out a 2-0 lead, enlarging it 3-0 in second. Dunkirk powered in their initial score, two runs, top of third. Warren maintained a comfortable lead into bottom of sixth, pacing the game 10-5.

Visiting Dunkirk nine pushed six runs off the wood in seventh to lead 11-10, but Warren once again took the edge 13-11 in their half. Then came the tying two runs, Warren pulling out of the fight with two more. Winning four runs were dusted across field in ninth for Dunkirk.

Bases were loaded in ninth with two outs for Warren. Cummings lined hard to second, game ending.

Next competition slated for Rockets is a return scuffle with Dunkirk on June 14 at 2 p. m.

Relievers Do It Again for Cubs Against the Pirates

By JACK HAND
 Associated Press Sports Writer
 Ask National League managers about the best lefty-righty relief combination in the league and they'll point to Chicago's Bill Henry and Don Elston.

Henry and Elston did it again Sunday when they chipped in to help John Buzhardt and Elmer Singleton rack up victories that boosted the Cubs into the rare atmosphere of third place.

Henry, the lefty, saved Buzhardt in the eighth inning of a 4-2 first game victory over Pittsburgh. It was Henry again in the second game when Singleton walked two men in the eighth inning. The southpaw retired Bill Virdon on a fly ball and Elston marched in to mop up the rest of the way to complete a 1-0 three-hit shutout.

Milwaukee's Braves snapped out of their slump, scoring eight runs in the seventh inning to rout their most persistent tormentor, Don Drysdale, with an 8-2 victory over Los Angeles. Bill Bruton had two of his four singles in the big inning but the key hit was a pinch three-run double by Andy Pafko.

San Francisco whipped Cincinnati 5-3 behind Jack Sanford in the first game, only to slip back in the race by losing the second 7-1 to Orlando Pena's four-hitter. They had a wild Sunday in quiet Philadelphia. First the Phillies battered St. Louis pitching for 16 hits and an 11-9 decision in the first game. Then a fist fight erupted between Don Cardwell, pitcher, and Gino Cimoli, Card outfielder, while Vinegar Bend Mizell was shutting out the Phils 2-0 with five hits in the second game.

Squirt Johns Pilots Across Finish Line

Brookway ace Squirt Johns zoomed to his fourth consecutive feature race victory before 2,500 fans at Stateline Speedway at Bust Saturday night.

Johns, who has covered the field like a blanket in 1959, took the lead on 13th lap and was able to withstand a strong finishing drive by Hyle Russell of Kane. Important to Johns was his avoidance of two mass pile-ups which caused restarts in early stages of the main events.

No one was injured in the tangles, but one top contender, Bob Schnars of Busti, was forced out with mechanical troubles. Schnars had actually out-dueled Johns in a nip-n-tuck semi-final heating the all-winning Brookway resident in the last 200 yards.

John Seeley of Jamestown took the other semi. Heats went to Jamestowner Chuck Piazza, Jim Scott of Grand Valley and Woody McCracken of Ridgway. Dean Layfield of Wellsview won the consolation then took third in feature with Paul Wilson, Jamestown, fourth. Emory Mahan of Warren was fifth.

Bizzaro, Walters Begin Training For June 18 Bout

A top-flight undercard is planned for a lightweight "title" fight between Johnny Bizzaro and Bob Walters in Erie June 18.

Friday afternoon in Erie, Bizzaro, youngster in the pro game, and Walters, a more-experienced veteran of the ring, signed their contracts for the grudge battle before Commissioner Fred Tate, State Deputy Commissioner Hector DiTullio, and Promoter Don Elbaum.

Both fighters began heavy workouts this morning for the leather swinging in Cauley auditorium.

In statements after signing their contracts, the fighters both voiced confidence of early knockouts. Said Walters, "I expect a tough fight but my experience will be too much for Johnny. Do not forget Johnny has never gone over four rounds and I have boxed eight and 10 rounds."

"I'll knock him out in two rounds," flatly stated Bizzaro, a former top-ranking amateur. Elbaum said Bizzaro is the 8-5 favorite because of his youth and tremendous punch. Johnny, often called a baby-faced boxer, fought once in amateur ranks in Warren. It is expected he will headline the first professional fight card in Warren soon.

Cubs Make It Clean Sweep Over Pirates

PITTSBURGH (AP) — One thing the Pittsburgh Pirates could be grateful for today — The Chicago Cubs have left town.

The Pirates were riding high with a six-game winning streak when the Cubs stopped off Friday night. Today the Pirates show a four-game losing streak.

Chicago completed a sweep of the series Sunday by taking a doubleheader, 4-2 and 1-0.

The double setback dropped the Pirates from third to fifth place in the National League standings. Five games behind leading Milwaukee.

John Buzhardt held the Pirates to four hits in the first game and Elmer Singleton limited them to three in the nightcap.

Both pitchers needed relief help, and got it. Bill Henry snuffed out a Pirate threat in the eighth inning of the opener and then Henry, along with Don Elston, protected Singleton's one-run edge over the last two frames of the second contest.

Harvey Haddix and Bob Friend were the losers, in that order, for Pittsburgh. Elroy Face relieved in both games as the Pirates used pinch-hitters in a desperate bid for victory.

In the opener, Pittsburgh scored in the fifth on Bob Skinner's walk and Bill Mazeroski's triple. They got their last run of the afternoon in the eighth. Rocky Nelson walked. Bill Virdon singled and Dick Groat hit a sacrifice fly for the run.

Haddix charged with his fourth loss against as many victories, fanned seven Cubs. Friend, now 2-8 struck out 10.

Chicago took a 1-0 lead in the first inning of the opener on singles by Tony Taylor and Al Dark, a passed ball by Smokey Burgess and a sacrifice fly by Bobby Thomson.

The Cubs sewed it up in the fifth with two tallies on Dick Groat's error, Lee Walls' single and Ernie Banks' double. Thomson hit a leadoff homer for Chicago in the eighth.

Chicago's winning tally in the nightcap came in the fourth as Dale Long singled and Walt Moryn doubled.

Matter of FACT

The Mohammedan religion is based on the Koran, the name given by Mohammed to the revelations which he claimed Allah or God made to him through the angel Gabriel. Mohammedans believe that the original text of the book is in heaven and that Gabriel dictated the sacred words from it. The revelations were begun while Mohammed was at Mecca in 610 A.D. They were completed at the time of his death, in 632, at Medina.

funds available for investment in direct federal government securities, he said.

Also, Eisenhower added, the bond market has been affected by recent preference among some buyers for common stocks.

The President noted that some bonds are priced in the market to yield more than 4 1/2 per cent.

Thus, he said, the current ceiling makes it virtually impossible to sell government bonds in the competitive market.

Eisenhower said the government must do more long-term borrowing in order to "avoid undue shortening of the public debt," which is inflationary.

"The achievement of a fiscal position that allows our revenues to cover our expenditures—as well as to produce some surplus for debt retirement—will improve substantially the environment in which debt management operates," Eisenhower said.

"Greater flexibility of debt management action is required, however, under present day conditions if a reasonable schedule of maturities is to be maintained and the safeguards against inflation strengthened."

Small Fry Can Be of Help to Mother

BY KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

The first Monday morning that the customary confusion of bustling children off to school is missing is a rather shocking reminder to mother that summer vacation has begun.

Older children may have a summer job lined up, but younger ones will look for things to do at home.

Most mothers recognize that unlimited playtime soon falls on a child, and they set up definite tasks to be performed each day.

Most children like to be a help around the house, at least part of the time, and summer vacation provides the opportunity to let them help. What jobs they can handle depend on age.

Little helpers can be encouraged to put away toys, to pick up papers, and to store groceries; canned goods stacked on lower shelves of cabinets can be sorted by color of label or pictures on label.

By the time they're in first grade, you perhaps are encouraging them to make their own beds and keep rooms picked up. They'll have time to do this carefully in the summer and, who knows, perhaps establish the habit.

Added jobs for the children seven or older could be: emptying wastebaskets, helping with dishes, helping in the garden, weeding and edging.

Running errands is often a well-liked job, especially if it involves a trip to a store or to the home of a favorite adult. Learning basic household routines is important for the young girl and she will gradually and pleasantly absorb homemaking skills, with sensible guidance.

A 9-year-old, for example, can do a creditable job of vacuum cleaning the carpet.

Foilish silver and brass is another task she could perform with good results. One important job which our 9-year-old daughter does efficiently is to sort, fold and put away the laundry.

Let a 9- or 10-year-old daughter prepare simple meals. She could be encouraged to set the table for special occasions, including arrangement of fruit or floral centerpieces.

Dusting, mopping, dishwashing; all are within her capability as a helper. And, in this mechanical age, it is not absurd to suggest that she learn how to load a dishwasher correctly.

Your attitude toward house-keeping and your equipment will have a lot to do with whether your daughter will enjoy home-making or resent it as a dreary chore. It's hard for me, for example, to approach kitchen-floor cleaning happily when a moped with a lank, dirty string mop and an old, rusty pail. It seems less a chore when the pail is lightweight and a pretty color and the sponge mop is clean and colored in a pretty, flower-like shade of blue, pink, yellow or green.

Sponge mop and plastic pail make mopping fun for six; little brother stacks canned goods according to label pictures in this "help mother" routine. It's good vacation time training, too.

For the same reason, dusting a floor with a geranium-red dactron mop makes this a cheerier task.

And do show her the time-savers and shortcuts you've worked out for yourself. For example, the use of antistat sprays on cloth or duster to speed dusting and make soil easier to dispose of.

ONCE MORE WITH FEELING—This "gag" shot, according to New York police, was taken shortly after a supermarket robbery. Joseph Silvestri, right, his unidentified companion in the photo and the photographer, Joseph Silvestri, were arrested. Police claim Silvestri is wearing the hat of one of the holdup victims.

Farmer Lures Two of His Neighbors to Death

MACON, Mo. (AP)—Faking a search for a cow, a farmer lured three neighbors into some timber and killed two of them Sunday. Then he took his own life.

The third neighbor ran away as a bullet zinged past his head. Sheriff Claude Bloomberg said the killer was Mike Kordash, 70. Despondent and nervous since the death of his wife two weeks ago, Kordash had stayed with various neighbors at night.

Claude Inman, 66, and Charles Hermis, 55, were slain in a woodlot about eight miles southeast of Macon.

Youngster Loses Life During Family Picnic

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—When 10-year-old Joyce Watkins fell into the churning waters of South Boulder Creek Sunday, her father rushed to a nearby road and commandeered a car.

Earl Watkins and the motorist raced downstream. A mile down, they stopped and Watkins waded into the chill waters, frantically looking. He rushed back to the car, and again they took up the chase.

Stopping three miles downstream, Watkins again rushed into the stream. There in waist-deep water he caught at an object that surged by. It was his daughter. She was dead.

The family had been on a picnic.

but so far have failed to produce a complete treaty draft. They recessed a month ago, ostensibly because two major international conferences were one too many for the facilities of the U.N. Palace of Nations.

The French are participating in the foreign ministers' talks on Germany but are taking no part in the nuclear negotiations.

Liberty Island Is Dark Following Power Break

NEW YORK (AP)—Freedom's light is burning bright from the Statue of Liberty on Liberty Island. But it sure is dark on the rest of the island.

Power has been out to most of the tiny, 12-acre island in New York harbor since early Saturday when a submarine cable from New Jersey was cut.

There are 12 residents on the island. They take care of the statue for the National Park Service.

"All the homeowners are using candles," said Mrs. Noel Foster, wife of the island's superintendent.

Despondent Elderly Couple Double Suicide

ST. LOUIS (AP)—An elderly man and his wife were found dead in bed in their second floor apartment Sunday. They left behind a message of despair.

The way in which Joseph M. Palmisano, 65, and his wife, Sabina, 63, died was a mystery. No marks of violence were found. Several bottles of medicine found near them were being analyzed.

A note written by Mrs. Palmisano indicated they had not been able to afford moving into a home for the aged.

"This is a coward's way out, but better this way than to be a burden," it read in part.

Four-Year-Old Boy Shoots Playmates

SALEM, Ind. (AP)—A 4-year-old deaf boy who shot his three young playmates still "doesn't understand what he did," his father said Sunday.

The youngster, Troy Hoggatt, found a pistol, loaded it and shot the neighbor children Saturday night.

Two of the victims were in critical condition in a hospital here and the third was listed as in fair condition.

Randy Hinton, 5; his brother, Ricky, 6; and Dawn Short, 10, were hit. Randy and the Short girl were wounded critically.

Curtis Hammond, 12, told police the boy was holding the pistol in both hands and he thought it was a cap pistol.

FATALLY INJURED
GREENSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Stanley Rebo, 53, of Greensburg R. D. 1, was fatally injured Saturday when he fell from his motorcycle while riding on Route 71 near Madison, Westmoreland County.

DAYTON, Pa. (AP)—David Coleman, who outlived three wives in his 91 years, married 81-year-old Carrie Kiehl Sunday night in a civil ceremony at the home of a daughter of the bride.

After the ceremony the couple left immediately for Coleman's home. The daughter, Mrs. Herbert Brosius, said "They feel they are too old to go on a honeymoon. Earlier, Coleman told newsmen: 'The world's full of women. There's no use being without one.'"

Daughter of Mystery Writer is Missing

DAVIS, Calif. (AP)—California and Nevada police are hunting the 19-year-old daughter of mystery writers Kenneth and Margaret Miller.

Her father uses the pen name "John Ross McDonald."

The girl, Linda J. Miller, disappeared after leaving a Nevada gambling casino, saying she had to get back to school. Miss Miller, a sophomore at the University of California branch in Davis, was last seen leaving the casino at Lake Tahoe the night of May 30-31.

Questions and Answers About Warren Schools

Readers with questions about our schools are urged to write School Editor, Times-Mirror. The school staff, answers the queries for the Warren Times-Mirror as a community service.

Question:
"Are track meets, band concerts and other such activities ever planned to take place before classes are dismissed in the afternoons? I hope not."

Answer:
"No, indeed. These events are scheduled at 3:30, after dismissal time. Athletes taking part in an out-of-town track meet would leave classes early, if their grades are high enough to permit this. And the music students taking part in the exchange concert program with Bradford miss two days of school."

Question:
"Why is there always plenty of homework for the night of a big school program like the Career Conference, an important concert or a big game? My kids have to burn the midnight oil after these programs let out. Often the teacher doesn't make regular assignments but seems to load it on for these nights."

Answer:
"Homework is worthwhile. There are so many school activities that if a teacher didn't give light assignments certain nights there would scarcely be any time for heavy homework, and overloading would result. I see no reason why assignments should not be on these nights of school events; or why a child can't plan ahead for an hour or two of study in the afternoon, such as from 5 to 6 o'clock. They plan time for seeing movies. Students have to learn to budget their activity time! They must get the studying done."

Question:
"Many mothers and fathers got a lot out of attending the Beaty Parents Group because the meetings offered a good chance to talk with the teachers. Will the high school start such a group?"

Answer:
"Yes, Mr. Passaro will make an announcement in September on when the first meeting will be held."

Question:
"Is there such a thing as a required course in English, so that the teachers know how much work each class must complete?"

Answer:
"Yes, indeed, our best plan is in English. All the course plans were developed recently, one this year and the oldest two or three years ago. Teachers may vary the plan as to the time of year they include each requirement but the courses are the same. Where there is ability grouping the teacher assigns the work accordingly, but approximate tasks are performed by the pupils."

Question:
"If a boy wants a job with the State Department, the United Nations, or an industry overseas, would it not be wise for him to study French?"

Answer:
"A United Nations spokesman writes us: 'In 1946 the General Assembly adopted English and French as the working languages, and Chinese, French, English, Russian and Spanish as the official languages. Although knowledge of the French language is desirable, it is not a requisite to employment within the Secretariat of the UN.'"

An official of the teachers' national organization writes from Washington: 'I suppose, as we look at languages in the world other than English, an

AIRLINE SETS RECORD

A record-breaking 48,428 passengers logged nearly 8,150,000 miles on Allegheny Airlines in May 1959, a 19% increase over May 1958, the company reported today. This marked the 12th consecutive month in which Allegheny has bettered its year-before performance. Air cargo loadings, paced by a healthy 83% increase in Air Freight, climbed to 643,000 pounds for the month from 400,000 pounds last May. Thru May, Allegheny's passenger traffic is running nearly 16% over 1958, the company said. Air cargo to date has exceeded 1958 by 51%.

ASSESSMENT HEARINGS

Residents in following townships may appear for the informal assessment hearings in Warren County Court House this evening between 7 and 9 p.m. if they did not attend this morning's session to appeal if they were not satisfied with their new assessment: Brokenstraw, Columbus, Spring Creek Twp., and Bear Lake Boro. Tomorrow, same evening hour with the addition of 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the daytime, will be Deerfield, Eldred, Freehold and South West Twp.

RECRUITING INFO

Stenographers and secretaries now have a chance to apply for civilian positions in the Navy Department in Washington. Miss Leona Lahee, Employment Representative, is at the Navy Recruiting Station, Federal Courthouse Building, Ferry Square, Erie, to discuss employment opportunities with interested applicants. The positions are under Civil Service and pay $313 and $336 a month, plus annual increases, liberal vacations and sick leave benefits. Housing reservations are made for new employees. Office hours are 9 to 6 Monday through Friday and until noon on Saturdays. Evening appointments may be arranged by phoning 2-4151.

Important one is French..... There is a great deal to be said for the study of Latin, because it is a basis of the Romance languages.

"The importance of any language, it seems to me, is its use. If your high school is not going to give enough of the language to make it a useful, working tool, then it is not much use to offer any language at all. Unless the boys and girls now studying German and Spanish come out of your high school with the ability to use them as working tools in communication with other people, then they have not spent their time too wisely.

"Similarly, the addition of French certainly would be useful to enrich your language program. I know what is involved because of the cost, the textbooks, and many other things when one introduces a new subject. Nevertheless, in these days when languages are so very significant and important, it would be a fine addition if French were included in your curriculum."

IN MEMORIAM!

By Rep. Kaptel Davis, printed in his column "On Soundings" in The Forest Press

State Representative Allen M. Gibson

A fine looking, friendly man arose before an emotionally tense caucus early in my career in Harrisburg. Tempers were flaring higher and higher—to a pitch known only when tax measures were being considered.

This man spoke quietly to the caucus in a vein of understanding, persuasive reasonableness. And he spoke in words that added up to clear common sense. He never raised his voice, but soon he had the close attention of all, and presently he had won most of the caucus members to his view. He resolved one of the important angles of our tax program which had been troubling our party group in the House of Representatives.

In these caucuses, I generally sat beside him. Just as members in their first term or two are prone to react to questions under discussion, I would say to him, impatiently: "Why in the world don't we do so-and-so?" And he would tactfully say: "Well Kip, you've got a point, but maybe you've not fully considered such-and-such."

Of course, this was precisely what I had not done. Fortunately through the years, I was able to benefit in association with this warm-hearted, human man whose talent for insight and rare sense of the practical was coupled with long legislative experience. As he advanced to within the top bracket of our party's House leadership, increasingly he became the friendly counselor of many fellow members. He did much toward bringing happy endings to more than a few festering spots infected with virulent germs of human differences and colliding ambitions.

Above all, he had bigness, especially in his view of people and their doings. To this I can testify feelingly.

I am thinking of that embarrassing occasion when through my own inadvertence he signed and co-sponsored the wrong bill. Not intended for him, it had nevertheless strayed among several others which we both were actually co-sponsoring at the time.

It remained for the Harrisburg daily newspapers to make known to us by all-too-prominent news items that we had jointly introduced a bill to place time-clocks into all state-government offices. I had introduced the measure, presumably the sole sponsor, to emphasize the entirely inadequate job of fact-finding which lay behind a mending reorganization of the state government.

Ironically, within an hour he was due to make a talk before a large group of state employees, who certainly would not take kindly to the idea of time-clocks. Here indeed, was a situation to tax the patience of a saint. A good show of temper was surely justified. But the humor of situation marked his only reaction. He talked to the state employees and had them laughing with him.

Through the years we both repeatedly have had good laughs over this absurd mix-up. And he will be laughing if he is able to know what I am writing, for he has gone.

In the death of my friend Hon. Allen M. Gibson of Warren, this Commonwealth, and especially our own northwest corner, has lost one of its ablest. He was of governorship stature. He had been successful in business as well as seasoned and effective in the arts of government. With his exceptional capacity for leadership and conciliation there was also the highest sense of civic duty.

Among the fine men I have known, during a life which has touched a wide range of places and encountered many individuals, Allen Gibson belongs high in the top echelons. To many others besides myself his passing will mean the end of a warm and superlatively treasured friendship.
